

2020. A bad year for many.

2020. A good year for few.

2020. Nobody was ready.

2020. How was it for you?

We had to say goodbye to so many famous actors.

Kirk Douglas, Sean Connery, Chadwick Boseman (The Black Panther)

Many others left us, but will never be forgotten,

Kobe Bryant, Ruth Ginsburg, Little Richard or Maradona.

Fires in Australia, in the USA, hurricanes

An earthquake in Turkey and a volcano in the Philippines.

In Beirut, an explosion, that was a mystery to everyone,

An oil spill from a Russian ship pollution in the ocean.

The Iranians killed hundreds flying in a plane,

At first they denied it because it came from Ukraine.

The US killed a General from the Iranian Government,

They used a drone to avoid danger, capture, risks or arguments.

That was 2020. A bad year for many.

That was 2020. A good year for few.

That was 2020. Nobody was ready.

That was 2020. How was it for you?

The Antarctic had the highest temperatures,

While Donald Trump denied climate change,

The US left the Paris Agreement,

With Greta Thunberg in a rage.

Harry and Meghan left the Royal family,

While George Floyd was killed for being black.

The UK left Europe and they're never coming back.

Elon Musk says the future's on Mars
He's inventing clever motorways and electric cars.
Then came the month of March
STOP!
This is Coronavirus
Stay in your houses!

That was 2020. A bad year for many.
That was 2020. A good year for few.
That was 2020. Nobody was ready.
That was 2020. How was it for you?

What I thought was just a flu,
Was killing people like me and you.
The elderly were vulnerable but so was everyone
We could all carry it, one for all, all for one.
Lockdown, distance, masks and gel,
What used to be a paradise was now a living hell.
People who were working were told to stay at home,
Nurses, doctors and essential ones
Found themselves alone.

That was 2020. A bad year for many.
That was 2020. A good year for few.
That was 2020. Nobody was ready.
That was 2020. How was it for you?
